R' Avraham J. Twerski,	There's no question that this is an excellent place to refer to, I may even possibly make some contributions to it. I think that some of the guys in SA here have to know about this, I don't know if they do. I will try to get the word around. Have a lot of Hatzalacha and I'll try to and help in which ever way reasonably I can.	R' Avraham J. Twerski, MD, is the founder and medical director of Gateway Rehabilitation Center in Aliquippa, Pennsylvania. Rabbi Twerski is one of the country's leading experts on drug and alcohol rehabilitation., author of over 50 books, and a true Gadol and pioneer in Klal Yisrael. He is one of the guiding forces behind our work and he contributes to our site and is often quoted in our articles, tips and advice.
Philip M. Rosenthal	I looked over your site fairly thoroughly. It is quite nice. I am very happy that something like this exists for people. One of the biggest stumbling blocks that people have to getting help is an anonymous place to go. It shouldn't stop there though. When someone has this addiction, they need to get real therapy. I firmly believe though, that they may not get ANY help if they don't ever find you. You may certainly use my name in your list of "haskomos". I am, of course, not a Rav, but maybe some of my credibility may help. Rabbi Twerski and I are in touch regularly and I have a very solid track record of success.	Philip M. Rosenthal is a close associate of Rav A.J. Twerski and a Master Candidate for Mental Health Counseling and a Computer Forensic Investigator
Dr. Benzion Sorotzkin	I first heard of your site from an ad on Yeshiva World News. I took a look and then passed it on to a patient who was discussing his difficulties in this area. I understand that specific, practical help for those struggling with the problem is an important part of the solution, which is why I am happy to refer patients to your site. Hatzlacha in your important work,	Dr. Benzion Sorotzkin is a well acclaimed therapist and has a website at: www.drсорotzkin.com
Leah Abramowitz	Nice article in the Jerusalem Post. Maybe we'll use something on this subject at a future Nefesh conference. In the past few weeks we've gotten referrals from two religious organizations who claim to help religious homosexual men (or what they call same sex attractions) to overcome their tendency. One is geared for the religious Zionist crowd (but of course they'll deal with more hareidi men as well) called Eitzat Nefesh. Rabbi Shlomo Aviner is giving them backing. The other is more hareidi oriented and a man called Jessel is behind it (and I believe has already been written up in the Post). Interesting that all of a sudden these subjects are not only being admitted to in the religious circles, but people want to do something about it. Let me share this material with my colleagues. Meanwhile Kol HaKavod for the initiative and results.	Leah Abramowitz is a cofounder of Nefesh Beyisrael

Zev Ballen	Hi - My name is Zev Ballen. I am a licensed psychotherapist with many years of experience in the addiction field, particularly sexual addiction. As a therapist, I am endorsed by a number of Gedolei Yisrael and leading Orthodox clinicians (see my website). Where ever possible, I strive to draw upon Torah Hashkofa to inform and drive the work of therapy. I recently discovered your website. It is a tremendous resource and support to many people who I am working with. Hashem should help you to continue this vital service. I have already digested much of the old website and I'm excited to see the new one. When I first found you, I made copies of the two handbooks. They are really very well done. Your flyer really highlights the many services that you offer in a tasteful way – I'm sure it that it will help a lot to get the word out. I have been sending the link to my Jewish colleagues (as well as selected pieces that I feel they can relate to). I would consider even sending it to my non-Jewish colleagues. It is important for them to know about the site too so that they can refer their Jewish clients (frum and non-frum) for more	Zev Ballen, LCSW 6 Crabapple Court Monsey, NY 10952 845.362.8600 (o) 845.304.0906 (c) thehypnosistrainingcenter.com
Rabbi Richard Louis Price, M.D.	Please let me know how I can be of service to your important organization. Unfortunately, I help clients from our community in need of psychotherapy and psychopharmacology for S.A. literally every day. Feel free to add my name to the therapists list.	Medical Director, Bikur Cholim of Rockland County Consultant, Frumsupport.com Yale &amp; Columbia University Trained, Orthodox Rabbinical Ordination Teens, Adults, Couples Psychotherapy &amp; Psychopharmacology Monsey, New York www.Rabbi MD.com (845) 304-6123
Rob Weiss	My name is Rob Weiss and I am a clinical social worker, author and expert in the treatment of sexual addiction and sexual offending in Los Angeles. As a Jewish man and professional in this area I receive a large number of referrals from our local Jewish Family Services agency and from other local conservative, Orthodox and Hasidic organizations You are doing great work! I am closely following one of our clients who is utilizing Guard Eyes and got the start he needed in recovery through you. Thanks for the link - we will do same for you. Great job on the new site- let me know when you get to the point where you might want a professional Q and A - I think I could contribute that. I look forward to hearing more from and about your work, it is much needed. Hope you continue to grow and prosper.	Robert Weiss LCSW, CSAT Executive Director The Sexual Recovery Institute Los Angeles 310-360-0130 x214 rob@sexualrecovery.com
